Twentieth Judicial District begins accepting credit card payments online

BOULDER, Colo. – Starting today, the 20th Judicial District will accept Visa and Master Card payments online for certain fines and fees, as well as restitution. Online payments can be made seven days a week from 5:00 a.m. to 2:00 a.m. at <https://www.jbits.courts.state.co.us/cjop/>

“We decided to begin accepting credit card payments as a convenience to the community,” said Chief Judge Roxanne Bailin. “We are hopeful that providing people with the ability to pay court fines and fees online with credit cards will help them make payments in a timely manner.”

Individuals may access their case and fine information using a case number, name, or ticket number search function. Cases with active warrants, suppressed cases and cases that have been referred to private collections cannot be paid online.

Credit cards will continue to be accepted in-person at payment counters at the Boulder County Justice Center in Boulder and the Boulder County Court location in Longmont.
