STATE OF COLORADO

Overview

January 2019

Population and Geographic Area

With an estimated district population of 1,008,091, the Courts of the Eighteenth Judicial District serve the most populated judicial district in Colorado. The District population includes Arapahoe County (637,068), Douglas County (328,632), Elbert County (24,225), and Lincoln County (5,515). Arapahoe County is the 3rd most populated county in Colorado has seen a 13% increase in population growth over the last few years; Douglas County is the 8th most populated in Colorado and has had an increase in population growth of 16%, Elbert County has grown by 9%, and Lincoln County has remained the same.

Arapahoe County contains much of the southern and eastern suburbs of the Denver metropolitan area. It has an urban concentration, consisting in part of the municipalities of Aurora, Centennial, Englewood, Greenwood Village, and Littleton. It also contains rural communities east of the metropolitan area such as Byers, Deer Trail, and Strasburg.

Douglas County contains a heavy south metropolitan area suburban population. The county includes the towns of Castle Rock, Castle Pines, Franktown, Larkspur, Lone Tree, Parker, and Sedalia, and the major subdivisions of Highlands Ranch and Acres Green. The remainder of the county is rural.

Elbert and Lincoln Counties are primarily rural. Some of the communities in Elbert County are Elizabeth, Kiowa, Ponderosa Park and Simla, and in Lincoln County, a couple are Hugo and Limon. A state prison is located near Limon in Lincoln County.

The Eighteenth Judicial District provides court services from five different courthouses in the district: Littleton and Centennial in Arapahoe County, Castle Rock in Douglas County, Kiowa in Elbert County, and Hugo in Lincoln County.

Case Filings and Docket Assignments

In FY 2018, 33,405 new cases were filed in the district courts. There were 73,242 new cases filed in the county courts during this period. There were 242 trials in the District Courts and 548 trials in the County Courts.

District court cases include felony criminal matters, civil cases, domestic relations cases, juvenile matters, appeals from municipal and county courts, and probate and mental health cases. County court cases include misdemeanors, traffic cases, civil cases of value up to $25,000, small claims cases, and preliminary hearings in felony cases. The District has twenty-three district court judges and nine magistrates who currently hear district court cases. Sixteen of the district court judges and seven of the magistrates sit in Arapahoe District Court. Five district court judges and two magistrates sit in Castle Rock and hear Douglas County cases. One judge hears Elbert County cases as well as Lincoln County Civil, Probate and Mental Health cases. One judge splits time between Lincoln County (hearing criminal, domestic relations and juvenile cases) and Douglas County (hearing domestic relations cases).

In the 18 Judicial District, the majority of district court judges and magistrates are assigned to specialized dockets. This means they are assigned to hear one or two case types. For example, some judges hear primarily domestic relations cases while others hear primarily criminal cases. However, to make the most efficient use of courtrooms and judicial officer time, the judicial officers pick-up cases of any case type from others whenever their time allows. A cooperative system of docket management allows our very busy District to move cases along more efficiently than we otherwise could.

There are thirteen judges and three magistrates in the county courts. One judge and one magistrate sit in Littleton, and six judges and one magistrate sit at the Arapahoe County Justice Center. Three judges and one magistrate sit in Douglas County; one part-time judge sits in Elbert County; and one part-time judge sits in Lincoln County.

In addition to the regular court dockets, the 18th Judicial District has five problem-solving courts. Problem Solving Courts offer a non-traditional approach to integrating treatment provision and criminal justice case processing. These courts rely on the close collaboration of multidisciplinary teams, including members from the judicial and treatment communities. Our Problem-Solving Courts focus on reducing recidivism, promoting public safety, ensuring participant accountability, supporting recovery and improving quality of life for participants and their families with a cost effective, integrated continuum of care through community resources. The 18th Judicial Veterans Treatment Court (“VTC”) is a problem-solving court that serves high risk/high need veterans who are struggling with trauma-related issues including, but not limited to, PTSD, TBI, substance use, and other mental health issues with a focus on those issues that are directly related to military service. The 18th Judicial District Veterans Support Court (VSC) serves low risk/high need veterans, through a collaborative problem-solving approach, will reduce recidivism of individuals who served in the armed forces, suffer from a behavioral health diagnosis, and are involved in the criminal justice system. The 18th Judicial District Recovery Court (“RC”) serves offenders who are struggling on probation and are substance dependent. The RC is a probation revocation model, accepting referrals from probation officers and defense counsel. The Wellness Court of the 18th Judicial District (“WC”), serves offenders who are struggling with severe and persistent mental health symptoms and a severe substance use disorder. The Sobriety Court of the 18th Judicial District (“SC”) provides comprehensive, multi-disciplinary responses to high-risk, high-need Felony DUI offenders. We also have a dedicated Truancy Court that has been helping keep students in the classroom for several years. It has been met with a great deal of success.

The judicial officers in the Eighteenth Judicial District carry heavy caseloads. In some court locations, alternative dispute resolution options such as mediation, settlement planning, and settlement conferences are offered to assist the public in resolving disputes.

Staff

The judges and magistrates are supported by approximately 230 trial court employees consisting of administrative staff, judicial assistants (both in the clerk’s offices and the division), jury office personnel, law clerks, and court reporters; to mention a few. The district employs an additional 148 staff in the probation department.

Probation

In FY 2018, the probation department conducted 754 adult and juvenile offender investigations and prepared pre-sentence, assessment, screening, drug screen, or other reports after those investigations. The department also did 2,709 alcohol evaluations. The department received 6,237 new cases for probation supervision, 753 of which were referred to private probation and terminated 4,164 from state probation with an additional 2,312 terminated from private probation. As of June 30, 2018, there were 11,597 active adult and juvenile cases being supervised in the district including those cases supervised by the private provider.
