I am an experienced attorney and have been licensed to practice law in Colorado since 1986. I have been a mediator since 1992 with an extensive background addressing and resolving conflict and complicated legal issues. Throughout my long career I worked on behalf of the State of Colorado and The City of Colorado Springs as a prosecuting attorney. I have a more lengthy history representing the rights and interests of persons accused of crimes, parents in child protection cases and the rights of juveniles.

My experience and skills in the field of conflict resolution helped revolutionize the way cases have been resolved in El Paso County, Colorado for over 30 years. I have successfully mediated over 14,000 cases, including thousands of divorce, dependency and neglect cases, child support, custody, parenting time, grandparent visitation, military and private retirement, PERA and relocation issues.

I have mediated hundreds of civil cases including landlord tenant, collections, contract disputes, business disputes and tort cases.

I am a contract mediator for the State of Colorado serving the 9th and 21st judicial districts. In addition, due to my proficiency in Spanish I mediate cases for Spanish speaking litigants across the state.

I have been proud to work with thousands of pro se litigants (parties without attorneys). On a regular basis I have worked with families suffering from trauma and drug addiction as well as families ravaged by domestic violence and child abuse.

I have been a contract Guardian Ad Litem and CFY for the Office of Child Representative. I also have significant experience serving as a GAL for adults in D&N, domestic and civil matters.

After having worked with hundreds of attorneys, I believe I have helped innumerable litigants safely navigate the stresses and trauma of the legal system.

I am proud that once again, for the fifth time, to have been voted by my peers as a top alternative dispute resolution professional in Colorado Springs Magazine. Though I have relocated to the Western Slope, I still enjoy helping families and clients resolve conflicts across our state. I remain committed to the people of Colorado.
