

Sara A. Evanczyk

The Law Office of Sara A. Evanczyk, LLC
Frisco, CO

Sara Evanczyk received her undergraduate degree from Indiana University and her Juris Doctorate from the University of Colorado in 2001. Since that time she has specialized in complex and high conflict family law litigation cases, both for a widely respected family law firm with offices in Denver and Breckenridge, and in her own Summit County firm. Through her litigation practice, Sara gained an appreciation for the invaluable role mediation can play in successfully resolving conflicts, leading her to grow her practice to include mediation services. Sara's professional mediation training, along with her wealth of experience and professional insight, allows her to effectively assist parties to find solutions that successfully balance the important social, financial and emotional issues found in each case.

Sara is a member of The Mediation Association of Colorado, the National Association for Conflict Resolution, the Women's Estate Planning Council, the Colorado Bar Association (Family Law & Trust and Estates Sections), and the Continental Divide Bar Association. She has lectured to Attorneys, Accountants and Mental Health Professionals on various topics within her specialties, including the Denver Bar Association, the Interdisciplinary Committee on Child Custody, the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers and the Colorado Office of the Child's Representative. Sara has called Summit County home since 2006 and donates her time her time and talents through pro bono work for the Northwest Colorado Legal Services Project and Eagle County Small Claims Mediation Program.
