

Colorado Probation Fact Sheet

FY2019

Colorado Probation is an important component of the criminal justice system. It provides the court and the community with an alternative to incarceration for adults and juveniles who commit crimes. Probation staff are state employees and work under the administrative authority of the Judicial District's Chief Judge and Chief Probation Officer in each of the 22 Judicial Districts. The Division of Probation Services (DPS), part of the central State Court Administrator's Office (SCAO), works with probation departments to provide program support, evaluation, and education.

Adult Interstate Compact

The Interstate Compact for Adult Offender Supervision (ICAOS) is a formal interstate agreement that seeks to promote public safety by systematically governing the transfer of supervision for qualifying adult offenders. In FY2019, more than 1,400 probationers were accepted by Colorado and just over 2,700 probationers transferred to other states. The Department of Corrections accepted 365 parolees and transferred 899 to other states. Also, in FY2019, with the support of the Colorado Retaking Fund, Sheriff Offices have been reimbursed for costs to bring 88 probationers back to Colorado.

18,000+
Victims
Served

18,263 victims were notified by probation staff of their rights as required by the Victim Rights Amendment. Of those, 22% opted-in to receive notice of critical events that occur during supervision. Nearly 16,000 critical events were relayed to victims in FY2019.

Dollars and Sense of Probation

The cost of corrections is directly related to the level of containment for each sentencing option.

As Probation is community based and the least restrictive, it is also the least expensive option.

Juvenile Corrections Population Compared to General Fund Allocation for FY2019

Each of the correctional agencies receives funding as determined by the Legislature. General fund budget appropriations are distributed as shown in these charts (other dollars may be available through grants, cash funds, etc.) Correctional agencies also receive funding for treatment and other services for offenders, either in place of incarceration, during incarceration or to prepare for and assist in re-entry after incarceration.
