REGRESSION / HOLD

_____ (Participant's Name)

Incentives and sanctions are designed to motivate program participants and increase program engagement. However, after persistent non-compliance, a participant may be regressed to a prior phase. Just as a participant can be progressed through the phases of the Veteran's Trauma Court, a participant can also be regressed for certain behaviors. In the event that a participant is charged with a new offense, progression in the current phase will be placed on hold pending disposition of the new case. Conditions under which this may occur include but are not limited to:
