The People of the State of Colorado v. MARK ALLEN REDWINE
Case Number: 2017CR343 Division: 1 Courtroom:
Initial Case Management Order (C-1)

Due to the heightened public interest in this case, the Court wishes to ensure that the potential jury pool in La Plata County is not exposed to information that may potentially prejudice the ability of the Defendant to obtain a fair trial. The Court also wishes to ensure that the public is able to access all information regarding the case in a timely manner so long as that information does not affect the ability of the Court to provide the parties a fair trial. In order to balance those two sometimes competing interests, the Court orders:

1. All pleadings shall be identified on the first line with a capital P for the People's motions and a capital D for the Defense motions followed by a sequential numbering of the motions, similar to the caption in this order.
2. All documents filed in this case shall be filed electronically as suppressed with a paper copy filed with the court clerk within one business day of the electronic filing. The paper copy shall be designated as "Public Access" in the last line of the caption. The public access paper copy shall be redacted as deemed appropriate by the filing party. A copy of the public access copy shall be provided to opposing counsel within one business day if the public access copy has been redacted by the filing party. The clerk shall screen all filings in compliance with CJD 05-01 regarding the redaction of pleadings. Upon completion of the screening, the clerk shall make the public access copy available to the public.
3. The only clerks that shall be authorized to access the court's file (other than receiving the paper public access copies at the clerk's window) shall be Debi Craig and Kandi McCoy.
4. This initial case management order is subject to revision at any time the Court deems appropriate.
