

DATE: Feb. 16, 2011

TO: Members of Colorado Media

FROM: Sara Crocker, Colorado Bar Association
Rob McCallum, Colorado Judicial Department
Jon Sarché, Colorado Judicial Department

WHAT: Law School for Journalists

WHEN: Tuesday, Feb. 22, 8:30 to 10:00 a.m.

WHERE: Colorado Bar Association
1900 Grant Street, 3rd Floor, Denver, CO 80203

TOPIC: The Colorado Courts, and copyright and intellectual property law – Learn about the nuts and bolts of the Colorado court system, from county court to the Colorado Supreme Court and everything in-between. This session will examine differences between state and federal courts and focus on the limited roles of the appellate courts and different levels of deference they must give to findings and conclusions of trial courts. This session also will include a look at copyright law with emphasis on fair-use issues from a judge who was among the country's best-known practitioners in the area.

PANEL: The Hon. Richard L. Gabriel of the Colorado Court of Appeals, a former partner and associate with Holme Roberts & Owen LLP.

Details, including the agenda and course materials have been posted at:
http://www.courts.state.co.us/Media/Law_School.cfm. Handouts will be posted when they become available.

RSVP: scrocker@cobar.org or 303-824-5347

The Colorado Bar Association and the Colorado Judicial Branch jointly offer “Law School for Journalists,” an ongoing series of classes designed to provide reporters with background information about issues in the legal system and judiciary. The sessions are free and typically run for 90 minutes at the Colorado Bar Association offices.

Participation through a live webcast is available.
